Explanation

Azure Automation can play the role of SQL Server Agent for Azure SQL DB.

Built into the Azure platform is Azure Automation and to get started, you have to create an automation account. You'll need to provide a name for the account, select your subscription, resource group, location, and determine if you want to create an Azure Run As account.

Once you create your account, you can then start creating runbooks. You can do just about anything with the runbooks. There are numerous existing run books that you can browse through and modify for your own use, including provisioning, monitoring, life cycle management, and more.

Scenario: After the migration to Azure, the business process must be scheduled to execute nightly at midnight Eastern Time (UTC-5). The implementation of the business processes must minimize administrative effort.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Which congestion-avoidance or congestion-management technique can cause global synchronization?

- A. Tail drop

- B. Weighted fair queuing
- C. Random early detection
- D. Weighted random early detection

Answer: A

Explanation:

Tail Drop Tail drop treats all traffic equally and does not differentiate between classes of service. Queues fill during periods of congestion. When the output queue is full and tail drop is in effect, packets are dropped until the congestion is eliminated and the queue is no longer full. Weighted Random Early Detection WRED avoids the globalization problems that occur when tail drop is used as the congestion avoidance mechanism on the router. Global synchronization occurs as waves of congestion crest only to be followed by troughs during which the transmission link is not fully utilized. Global synchronization of TCP hosts, for example, can occur because packets are dropped all at once. Global synchronization manifests when multiple TCP hosts reduce their transmission rates in response to packet dropping, then increase their transmission rates once again when the congestion is reduced.
